Local Woman's Gift Aids U. of Wisconsin

Milwaukee — A gift of $100.00 from Mrs. Fred Bear, Grayling, was among the $925,458.97 in gifts and grants accepted by the University of Wisconsin Board of Regents at its meeting here last Friday.

The gift is to be added to the Kathryn Bartlett fund for support of Cancer Research in the Department of Surgery in the Medical School at Wisconsin's State University.

REPORT from LANSING
ROSE C. STEVENS
Your State Representative
(Presque Isle District)

There are signs that members of the House of Representatives have their eyes on that May 12th adjournment date. The speeches are as lively as ever, but shorter. Delaying tactics that brought not a murmur a couple of weeks ago, now bring protest. The wheels of the legislature mill are in full whirl.

This week saw several pieces of legislation passed by the House and sent to the Senate also saw some legislation defeated, probably the most important was the defeat of the bill that would have repealed the One-Man-Grand-Jury Law. The vote was close.

A bill passed to give local authorities control over who should be given a SDD or SDM liquor license in their communities. In the past, the State Liquor Control Commission has consulted with local authorities and for the most part have ruled according to their wishes. The bill, if it is approved in the Senate and signed by the Governor, would make it mandatory, not just an advisory function of local authorities.

A bill passed that would prohibit the firing of an employee for absenteeism because of serving on a municipal court jury. Another bill is designed to end confusion in county treasurers' offices by making April 15th the final day for purchasing of State bids at tax sales. Present law allows this purchase up to the day of the sale. The House also approved a bill that will rid the books of the obsolete laws that now clutter up the statutes. This bill had bipartisan support.

A hearing Wednesday evening on House Bill 21, which would set up a minimum wage law in Michigan, found labor leaders supporting it and retail representatives opposing it. If it became law, the increased labor costs would fall on hospitals, restaurants, hotels and service industries. Unaffected by the bill is agricultural and domestic employees. It is estimated that Michigan has from one and two hundred thousand people who now make less than $1 per hour, many of them who cannot hold jobs that pay higher wages.

The House Elections Committee will check for voting irregularities in the City of Detroit, the committee planned to spend Monday, April 3rd, in the Motor City checking precincts where investigation disclosed some irregular voting in last fall's election.

Deer hunting will start on the Saturday nearest the 15th of November if it is passed by the House Thursday, becomes law. It was contested, and found solid support from city members and most of the rural members objected. Some predicted that most lands will be posted against hunting if this becomes law. I opposed this bill because I thought the deer should get a break for a change.

A bill to require all maps or reproductions that carry the name "Michigan" shall contain both of the peninsulas, passed the house. Upper Peninsula legislators don't like having their part of the state left off of printed maps and advertising matter. As the law reads, it requires that when only one peninsula is shown, the fact that it is only part of Michigan must be carried in the printed information on the map or advertisement.

A bill to forbid cities to levy income or payroll taxes on people who live outside of their corporate limits provided hot debate in the House failed to pass the defeat of several amendments. The vote was reconsidered, and after more discussion, was made a special order for Tuesday.

The House concurred in a minor amendment to the bill to require that suits for damages against bar owners must be started within one year which had been put on by the Senate, and the bill now goes to the Governor.

Mr. and Mrs. John Knecht accompanied her sons, Norval and Lacey Stephan, to Saginaw Wednesday before last, so that Mr. Knecht could get fitted for artificial legs. Grayling, Michigan, Thursday, April 13, 1961

National Library Week . . .

National Library Week will be celebrated April 16-22, 1961. This movement to focus attention on the vital and unique role of the printed word in our national life is a time for all media of communications to unite in a coordinated effort with libraries, schools, organized groups and business to stimulate lifetime reading habits, to encourage widespread use of libraries of all kinds and to increase support for public, school and college libraries.

In 1961, all phases of the program will be expanded to heighten appreciation of reading opportunities for all citizens of every age. The program will be marked also by special emphases: reading for American youth; the importance of school libraries as a major factor in the total educational process, and a project designed to increase participation by people in industry.

The theme: "For a richer, fuller life — Read!"

The purpose of National Library Week, a citizen's movement, is to encourage lifetime reading habits and the use and support of libraries of all kinds by everyone. The goal is "a better-read, better-informed America." The Week is not an end in itself. It is a focal point of a long-range, year round effort through continuing activities of many groups in more than 5,000 communities.

Today as never before, limited horizons endanger free people. We can no longer afford indifference to the quantity and quality of our resources for education and information. Learning has risen in the national scale of values. Reading and libraries have assumed a new importance.

Locally, the week will be marked by the selling of memberships in the newly organized Friends of the Crawford County Library. The main objective of the group is to bring an expanded and fuller library service to all the people of Crawford County, adults as well as students and visitors.

We urge you to become a member of the Library Friends and help this worthy cause which will mean so much to so many. R. W. S.

A department of the Investment Bankers Association of America reports that state and local government bond authorizations approved by American voters last year reached an all-time high of $6.1 billion. That is 30 per cent more than the previous peak, which was approved in 1956.

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO

April 14, 1938

One of the most interesting assembly programs of the year was presented to students of the local high school last week when Ernest Nickel entertained the student body. Mr. Nickel is what is known as a concert whistler. He has appeared in the Hollywood Bowl, as well as before audiences all over the United States and Europe. He is a master of his art and is most entertaining. Good music, with victrola accompaniment, formed the basis of his program; but he also demonstrated his craft with bird calls that were remarkably life-like. Mr. Nickel had the whole student body whistling with him. He closed his program with a rendition of Carole Jacobs Bond's "When You Come to the End of a Perfect Day." Mrs. Bond is a personal friend of Mr. Nickel, and as a Michigan composer she should be known to Michigan people. All of the bird calls heard in Walt Disney's new movie, "Snowwhite and the Seven Dwarfs," were the work of Mr. Nickel. This part of the sound track was run through seventeen times and each time a different bird call was put in.

Some twenty ladies and gentlemen responded to an invitation from Mrs. Harry Connine and Mrs. Marius Hanson, for dinner Thursday evening at Connine's Hill.
